want anything to do with what the winter, see, we'll know your cures all took, that they're sound, like. Not that I doubt it, I should laugh or cry; the nonexistent singer hummed something softly. I did not want to listen. I lightly, she filled me a cup to the brim with a liquid that looked exactly like milk. "Speak when I let you," the wizard said. "Where is the man?" When Azver rejoined the other men there was something in his face that made the Herbal say, "What is it?" were gossamer to him, transparent. Nothing blurred his eyes or challenged his will as he flew over. Then for a while he held still, body and mind, beginning to understand for the first time where his power lay. man hesitated. The girl motioned them to come in. Crow chose to wait outside. The room was high and long, with traces of former elegance, but very old and very poor. Healers' paraphernalia and drying herbs were everywhere, though ranged in some order. Near the fine stone fireplace, where a tiny wisp of sweet herbs burned, was a bedstead. The woman in it was so wasted that in the dim light she seemed nothing but bone and shadow. As Tern came close she tried to sit up and to speak. Her daughter raised her head on the pillow, and when Tern was very near he could hear her: "Wizard," she said. "Not by chance." The Doorkeeper came back and said, "Come, Irian, and meet the Masters of Roke." Her heart began to go at a carthorse gallop. She followed him through the maze of corridors to a dark-walled room with a row of high pointed windows. A group of men stood there, and every one of them turned to look at her as she came into the room. THE ISLAND OF SEMEL lies north and west across the Pelnish Sea from Havnor, south and west of the Enlades. Though it is one of the great isles of the Earthsea Archipelago, there aren't many stories from Semel. Enlad has its glorious history, and Havnor its wealth, and Paln its ill repute, but Semel has only cattle and sheep, forests and little towns, and the great silent volcano called Andanden standing over all. a misty drizzle now, they stayed hunched up under the henhouse eaves, disconsolate. The King had the bucket. What do you do when you aren't working? Crafty men used weather as a weapon, sending hail to blight an enemy's crops or a gale to sink his. again and choose an Archmage. They must have been incredibly high. Money was a problem. The girl thought, of course, that he as a great wizard would snap his fingers and waft them over the sea in a magic boat flying before the magewind. But when he told her they'd have to hire passage on a ship, she said simply, "I have the cheese money." "Irian, here's what you must do to enter the Great House..." walks in from somewhere north, takes my business, some people would quarrel with that. A quarrel. They came out again among the ploughlands and pastures in the warm evening. As they walked back to their camping place he saw the four stars of the Forge come out above the western hills. writing from the publisher. like I'm the water finder and you're my wand, see? They had let me have my way too easily. Even Oswamm did not oppose my decision. "I didn't mean to hurt Father's feelings," he said. and bellies touched, though their hands stayed down by their sides. They went on kissing. The air was darkening around them. The west was only a dull red line, the eastern sky was shadowy. "I don't know," said the Doorkeeper. All this went rushing through his mind like a flood breaking through a dam, while he stood at the edge of the woods with Veil. "I thought mages kept themselves apart," he said at last. "High-drake said that to make love is to unmake power." witches learn a few words of it; wizards learn many, and some come to speak it almost as fluently. at him. Over and over he walked through the little valley, through the dry grass, through the. She was in his charge, in his care, he had known that when he saw her. Though she came to destroy Roke, as she had said, he must serve her. He did so willingly. She had walked with him in the forest, tall, awkward, fearless; she had put aside the thorny arms of brambles with her big, careful hand. Her eyes, amber brown like the water of the Thwilburn in shadow, had looked at everything; she had listened; she had been still. He wanted to protect her and knew he could not. He had given her a little warmth when she was cold. He had nothing else to give her. Where she must go she would go. She did not understand danger. She had no wisdom but her innocence, no amour but her anger. Who are you, Irian? he said to her, watching her crouched there like an animal locked in its muteness. "So the vulgar call it, or quicksilver, or the water of weight. But those who serve him call him the King, and the Allking, and the Body of the Moon." His gaze, benevolent and inquisitive, passed over Otter and to the tower, and then back. His face was large and long, whiter than any face Otter had seen, with bluish eyes. Grey and black hairs curled here and there on his chin and cheeks. His calm, open smile showed small teeth, several of them missing. "Those who have learned to see truly can see him as he is, the lord of all substances. The root of power lies in him. Do you know what we call him in the secrecy of his palace?" "Of course you do! What does it matter what Tarry thinks? You already play the harp about nine times better than he ever did." moment, and then turned aside and ran lightly down a long, steep slope into darkness. stars and the black curve of the hill, they stripped and waded into the shallow water, their feet. him that Otter's sister hurried in to tell him, "Hound's won a battle or a fortune! He's riding. she had no wizardly gifts at all, she knew so well how to get a group of people to trust one. Note on dates: Many islands have their own local count of years. The most widely used dating system in the Archipelago, which stems from the Havnorian Tale, makes the year Morred took the throne the first year of history. By this system, "present time" in the account you are reading is the Archipelagan year 1058. information, communication, protection, and teaching. There were many such isles in the Archipelago, made barren and desolate by rival wizards' blights. "To hell with the biologist. Does this mean that a man to whom you've given brit can't do. When you construct or reconstruct a world that never existed, a wholly fictional history, the great forest of Faliern. wizard, and so, thinking to earn her porridge, she did her best to repair the Otter's House. powerless. then, a girl couldn't let a man into her room?" "There's the King," Licky said, in a tone that might have been reverence or hatred. He looked about, curious and wary. All over the hill spark-weed was in flower, its long petals blazing yellow in the grass. Children on Havnor knew that flower. They called it sparks from the burning of Ilien, when the Firelord attacked the islands, and Erreth-Akbe fought with him and defeated him. Tales and songs of the heroes rose up in Medra's memory as he stood there: Erreth-Akbe and the heroes before him, the Eagle Queen, Heru, Akambar who drove the Kargs into the east, and Serriadh the peacemaker, and Elfarran of Solea, and Morred, the White Enchanter, the beloved king. The brave and the wise, they came before him as if summoned, as if he had called them to him, though he had not called. He saw them. They stood among the tall grasses, among the flame-shaped flowers nodding in the wind of morning. After the death of Orm the dragons remained a threat in the West, especially when provoked by dragon hunters, but they withdrew from their encroachments on peopled islands and peaceful shipping. Yevaud of Pendor was the only dragon to raid the Inward Lands after the time of the Kings. No dragon had been seen over the Inmost Sea for many centuries when Kalessin, called the Eldest, brought Ged and Lebannen to Roke Island. He pondered. All the time he was with Gelluk, he had tried to learn from him, tried to
